Nevada has never been identified as a lumber producer, but for well over a century lumbering ventures have flourished in the Silver State. During the 1800's and early 1900's, Nevada's principal industries were cattle, sheep, and mining - gold, silver, and copper. These industries survive to this day, although the mines that built San Francisco, financed Mr. Lincoln's armies, brought Nevada into the Union, and supported a United States Branch Mint, are mostly closed - victims of depletion, inflation, and politics.

Isolated lumbering operations have been scattered throughout the state, but the most extensive and profitable were located in western Nevada on the steep eastern slopes of the Sierra Nevada Mountains. Most of the output of the Nevada mills was consumed locally in the building of houses and commercial buildings, or used for mine timbers, railroad ties, and fuel. Because of a limited lumbering industry and the fact that many of the companies pre-dated the great token issuing period, lumber tokens are virtually unknown in Nevada.

The Verdi Lumber Company was incorporated in 1900. Headquartered at Verdi, Washoe County, Nevada, a small lumber town less than one mile east of the California-Nevada boundary, the company owned stands of timber in both states. This was one of the many lumber companies - past, present, and future - that would operate in the region. Its incorporators were not new to the lumber business in the High Sierra. Oliver Lonkey had previously operated the Verdi Mill Company and J. F. Condon and J. H. Roberts were involved with the Boca and Loyalton Railroad, a California short line serving the lumber camps a few miles northwest.

Construction of a short line railroad by the Verdi Lumber Company commenced in late 1900. In less than a year five miles of the main line was operative and a year later two additional miles were added. In 1902 over 50 men were employed on the lumbering and railroad operations. The company box factory employed 45 men and the mill another 40 persons.

As timber stands became exhausted the railroad extended its lines deeper and deeper into the High Sierra. The high point of its railroad operation was reached in 1924 with 32 miles of track in use - over 90% located within California. Due to the terrain it was necessary to use five sets of switchbacks on the line and in places the roadbed was at a 13% climb. On the first switchback out of Verdi the train ran forward into California, backed up the switchback across the boundary into Nevada, and then proceeded forward up the mountain into California.

Verdi Lumber Company had suffered several substantial losses over the years. Facilities and timber stands had burned; trains had been wrecked as they ran over the steep main line. Mills were rebuilt and relocated as the lumbermen pressed deeper into the timber stands, leaving only the bare earth in their wake. Then in 1926, with its timber stands logged out, and an inability to secure new sources of lumber, the demise of the company was in sight. In May 1927, exactly one year after beginning the downhill plunge, the company commenced dismantling its railroad and mills.

Verdi Lumber Company, like many other lumber companies, was a token issuer. The company maintained company stores in Verdi and at the lumber camps on the California side of the boundary. At this writing only one denomination is known to collectors.

The piece is:

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL NSCA MEMBERS.....

I have thoroughly enjoyed serving as the first President of the National Scrip Collectors Association. As we approach the time for the Spring 1976 meeting, the matter of the election of new officers will be one of the important agenda items.

With the adoption of the Constitution and By-Laws a few meetings back, we have a solid foundation for a prosperous and continuing organization. Our only major concern should be our failure to attract a larger number of coal and lumber token collectors.

To prevent our organization from becoming "stale" or "in a rut", I feel that it would be to the best interest of all concerned that I make the following statement at this time -- I will NOT be a candidate for re-election as President of NSCA.

A new President will bring fresh ideas and suggestions to our group and he will be able to operate as head of the group with the Constitution and By-Laws as the basis for his actions.

If it is the desire of the membership - by vote at the Spring Meeting - I will be glad to serve as Secretary - Treasurer as authorized by the By-Laws. I hereby announce my candidacy for this office. If it is the desire of the Executive Committee, I will be glad to continue as Editor of "SCRIP TALK". The By-Laws authorize the election of a Secretary-Treasurer and this office has not been filled in the past since I have been serving in this capacity. The Executive Committee (composed of all elected officers) has the power to appoint a bulletin editor and to prescribe the general policy of the publication as concerns subscription rates, advertising rates, and other matters pertaining to the financing of the publication.

Thus, all members of NSCA (whether you can make the Spring Meeting or not) should make their thoughts known as concerns new officers. So that you can do this NOW, I am appointing the following Nominating Committee: Paul Jensen, chairman - Dr. Charles Evans - and John Fliss. I hope that this advance notice will give each of them an opportunity to contact members of our group so that their thoughts can be expressed.

Too, since we have a trophy to award for the best article printed in the bulletin during the past year - and a trophy to award for the person who signed the most new members, I am appointing the following committee to determine the winners of these: Bob Craigo, chairman - Charles Rogers - and Paul Cunningham.

Additional committees (if needed) will be appointed by mail and/or announced at Hawks Nest during the Spring meeting.

Finally, my sincere thanks for the fine cooperation that I have received during these past few years. I will always cherish the many new friendships developed and look forward to many more years of fellowship with a fine group of dedicated collectors.

Sincerely,

Walter Caldwell

THE UNMEASURABLE PLEASURES OF COLLECTING COAL SCRIP

By: PAUL W. JENSEN

I have had numerous hobbies during my life. For one reason or another, I either tired of them or lost all interest.

About ten years ago, I was given a piece of coal srip and some background on the mine and the use of the srip token. Soon afterwards, I was given other coal tokens along with additional interesting information about their use. I became intrigued with coal srip and the many, many fascinating stories connected with the tokens. In fact, I got the 'bug' and began collecting srip seriously.

Many interesting things happened: I received a letter from an elderly lady, in the State of Washington, who had moved from Tennessee when only 16 years old. She found a woman's purse in the attic 50 years later, and it had four Tennessee coal tokens in it. Too, I received a letter from a school teacher in Ohio who found a rare coal token while digging in her garden.

One very unusual find was after the big hurricane in Biloxi, Mississippi a few years ago. Three previously unreported Kentucky coal tokens were found on the beach - probably having been washed up from the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico.

I have tokens that were found in attics, tool sheds, basements, garages, gardens, fields, school yards, old tool boxes, old safes, abandoned stores and bank buildings. Too, I have tokens from the excavation for a new home and from the concrete steps of a house built in 1906 and later torn down, along with many other interesting places too numerous to mention.

I have received hundreds of interesting and informative letters from 42 states telling me stories of how and where the token was found - About dad, uncle or grandpa during his days as a miner or employee of a company store. I cannot begin to tell you all the interesting items that I have received in these many letters along with the enjoyment I get in writing almost 800 different people since I started collecting srip.

Too, I have added lumber tokens since they are so closely related to coal. This has given me additional people to correspond with all over these United States. The acquaintances and friends I have made through correspondence, and people that I have met personally, have done much to enrich my life these past few years.

I hope to retire soon and do a lot of traveling. I am looking forward to visiting many of the people that I have corresponded with, along with those I have met in person - wonderful people I would never have known had it not been for my new hobby of collecting coal and lumber tokens.

This, to me, is "the unmeasurable pleasures of collecting coal and lumber srip".

The above article by Paul Jensen will be entered in the contest for published articles.

Coal Scrip Once Miners' Credit

BY: R. R. TIPPY

Webster defines the word HOBBY as a subject that a person constantly talks about or returns to; something that a person likes to do or study in his spare time; or a favorite pastime or avocation. Look as hard as you will, you will not find where Webster defines the word SCRIPTOR. Hopefully, some day the dictionary will define the word "scriptor" as a person who collects scrip and falls in one or more of the categories above.

What is scrip and how was it used? Some people have the mis-conception that scrip is only paper and perhaps associate it with the depression years. Scrip may be paper or metal and actually metal tokens are more prominent; in fact, some avid collectors do not even collect the paper variety.

Metal tokens were referred to by different names that may have been peculiar to a particular geographical region. For example, in some areas they were referred to as "flickers", coal field money, light weight, doo lolly, etc. but the most common name is scrip. In this article the word scrip is referring only to the metal token that was used by the coal miner.

Commissary checks or scrip are, in essence, credit tokens and fundamentally were used as follows: An employee of the coal company who desired credit at the Company Store could request issue of scrip against work performed or work to be performed. The scrip so issued would be charged against the employee's payroll account, and its face value would be deducted from the amount due him for work performed on the following pay day. The scrip would then be spent at the commissary for merchandise.

This medium of exchange attained a certain amount of general circulation in the immediate neighborhood of the commissary, since it could be redeemed, in merchandise, upon presentation at the commissary by any bearer. For example, a miner in immediate need of cash might draw scrip at the mine office in face value of say $10, and subsequently sell to a third party for cash at a negotiated discount; or he might use to barter for goods or property with the local merchants, fellow employee, etc.

The use of scrip has been discontinued by practically all coal mining companies. Its demise depends upon the geographical areas, for example, in the mid-west the period was in the 1920's or perhaps early 1930's, whereas in the Appalachian area states, it made its exit in the mid-forties and up to the very early 1950's.

The use of scrip has been attacked from many sides. It may be remembered that Eleanor Roosevelt, during her humanitarian crusades, attacked the use of scrip as an evil thing. The Treasury Department has always considered it a thorn in its side and the United Mine Workers Union opposed its promiscuous use.

The private use of scrip and token money probably came to this land with the white man. The use of coal scrip was initiated for a number of reasons including the remoteness of the coal mine which left the coal operator with few alternatives.

First, it was necessary to run a spur railroad line, which particularly in the mountainous areas, was the only method of transportation to and from the coal camp. Since there was no housing it was necessary for the coal company to build housing. There was no local store and thus the birth of the Commissary or Company Store, in order that the miner and his family could obtain the necessities of life.

Therefore, it may be said that the coal company got into the store business out of necessity; however, it did not take long for them to recognize a good thing. Almost without exception, the commissary carried the very best brands of merchandise and charged accordingly - yes, their prices were normally very high.

Often times the coal company actually made more off their store operation than they did in the operation of the coal mine. Since in many instances these operations were not too close to the nearest bank, it was most impractical for all parties concerned to barter with U. S. currency. It should also be pointed out that there were a number of payroll robberies, and I can remember as a young man one of these robberies, and to the best of my knowledge, the payroll has not been recovered to this day.

The combination of all these circumstances historically resulted in scrip actually being born out of necessity and later becoming one of convenience. During the heyday of the old company town, scrip circulated so freely that it was indeed the coin of the realm.

The objectives and purposes of the National Scrip Collectors Association is to promote the collection of coal and lumber scrip (metal and paper) and related tokens; cultivate good relations between the collectors; and encourage the study and research of history of coal and lumber companies as it relates to scrip and the companies which manufactured the tokens.

The organization was originally dedicated to the collection of coal scrip only; but was subsequently expanded to include collectors of lumber scrip. As of January 1, 1976, the group boasted a membership of over 330 members, with 40 states being represented.

TIME FOR TAMS NOMINATIONS Your NSCA President is a candidate for re-election to the Board of Directors of the Token and Medal Society. The election will be held during the ANA Convention to be held in New York in August of 1976.

Since it is necessary that all candidates receive nominations from ten or more present members of TAMS, I would appreciate your support. If you feel that I can contribute something of value to the TAMS Board and if you feel that coal and lumber token collectors should be represented on the Board, please fill out the following nomination blank and mail at once....

NOTE: This blank should be completed only by NSCA members who also are current members of the Token and Medal Society....

Those of you who read the minutes of the 1975 Board Meeting held in Los Angeles know that your President was there and suggested several things for the benefit of TAMS and token collecting in general. If you have any ideas, suggestions, comments, etc. relative to TAMS, I would appreciate hearing from you so that I can carry them to the New York meeting....

Too, I will include space on the Nomination blank for any other names of present TAMS members that you would like to nominate.... Sorry that I do not presently know of any of our other members who might be candidates (with the exception of Hal Dunn - who has indicated by letter to me that he is again a candidate) so that their names could be included in this comment. If any names are brought to my attention and if we get out another bulletin before the nominations close, I will certainly let all NSCA members know.....

CLIP AND MAIL TODAY ...

A goodly number of inquiries to your Q and A Editor is for identification and attribution of tokens. Where possible they, of course, will be identified and published. However, we must insist that they be suspected coal and/or lumber and we must have help from the club members. If you can identify any of the listings, please let us know at once. QUESTION: Does anyone know of any tokens issued from Dunbar (Kanawha Co.) W.Va. ? Coal, lumber, railroad, merchant or anything?

ANSWER: All my research has failed to turn up anything. Can anyone help?

QUESTION: What should be the difference in the millimeter size of a token to constitute a collectible variety?

ANSWER: I personally collect a 2 millimeter difference as a variety. This compensates in my view for this distance for the type of measuring device used and the person interpreting the result. I will tolerate a one mm difference and suspect anything beyond. Let's hear the opinion of you other Scriptorers.

QUESTION: Are the J. E. Weber tokens of Strasburg, Illinois and the J. W. Sharp Mercantile Co. tokens of Middleton, Taberville and Harwood, Mo. coal tokens?

ANSWER: I have talked with a number of collectors and the matter is still uncertain. I have had replies both ways. Is anyone able to enlighten us with facts on these two?

Scriptor Ray Cole offers the following on a previous question regarding the scrip of H. E. Harman Coal Corp. of Harman, Va. He worked the Harman area as a railroad man in the early 50's and learned that all scrip was sent to the office in Tennessee. The Supt. at Harman got Ray a set of 1¢ to $1 (Minus the 50¢). A note that accompanied the scrip stated that the 50¢ pieces were destroyed by molding them into paperweights. The balance was transferred to a junk dealer who, in turn, disposed of it as scrap.

Scriptor Irwin Senturia has this comment on donations to charitable and public service organizations. When giving scrip or other items of value, he asks for a tax deductible receipt for the amount they realized from the sale of the item or items. He has been doing this for years with no trouble from the IRS. But... what if the items are not sold? If they are kept for permanent display? My tax man still says fair market value...

Thanks, fellows and keep the questions, answers, and comments coming.

Note: Scriptor Fliss has informed me that his mother was quite ill the past month and passed away on February 22. Two days later, his uncle passed away and John has been 'in a nightmare'. He advises that he will get caught up with all correspondence within a short time.

Too, the father of Scriptor Turner Ratie, Jr. of Charleston passed away recently following an unexpected heart attack.

The sympathy of all NSCA'ers is extended to Turner and John at this time.

This final reminder on the Hawks Nest meeting - get your room reservations in today.. All reserved rooms will be released on May 3rd so act now... If you find later that you can attend and don't have a room reserved - don't hesitate to come on - you will be able to find a room very close by if not at the lodge... Looks like it will be a good one with many new members coming for their first meeting....
